Golden Desires

Founded in 1921, Schoeffel is one of the luxury jewellery brands that embraces the beauty of pearls. From the Couture Collection, the Caleidoscope ring captures the gentle tides of the seas with their wave-like design.

They feature golden South Sea pearls and diamonds mounted in yellow gold.

FLORAL FORECAST

Embracing the purity of love and romance, Roberto Bravo introduces its latest White Dreams Collection featuring rings, pendants, earrings and bracelets in 14k yellow gold. The three-dimensional white flower features diamonds and enamel. www.robortobravo.com

FERAL POETRY

Chopard embraces the animal world with the latest addition to its Haute Joaillerie collection, a hedgehog-shaped secret watch. Flaunting the brand's exceptional gem-setting technique, the timepiece features 18k white gold that is entirely paved with diamonds and encrusted with moonstone spikes, creating a three-dimensional effect. When opened, the timepiece reveals a tiny, baby hedgehog holding a watch dial in its paws. www.chopard.com

Specks of Romance

Arguably more expensive than diamonds, Paraiba tourmalines are famous for their vividness. Qayten carefully selects the best combination of gems to create an elegant necklace called Mongofiera. It features a chain of Akoya pearls, accompanied with sparkling diamonds and precious Paraiba tourmalines, adding a touch of colour to the piece. www.qayten.net

Royal Centerpiece

Hans D. Krieger ensures that every piece of jewellery it creates embodies a timeless and classic character. The brand takes pride in their attention to minor details, releasing small series of exclusive and exquisite pieces — just like these rings that are available in both 18k rose and white gold, which are encrusted with natural champagne and colourless diamonds. www.kriegernet.com
